Nathan,

Sure. As for the SSA report, it is basically complete. There are a few small adjustments needed in language and updating the population numbers with the most recent information to make sure it is "camera ready" but in general it is competed. As for the 12-month petition finding we are still in the same position as we have been in for a bit, which is we are discussing the finding with the Department. The current plan is not to release a "final" SSA report publicly until we make a finding.

Please let me know if there are any additional questions

Talk to you soon
